SUITS FOR DIVORCE.
John P. Sewell and Katie Donaldson
Cite Their Complaints.

John P. Sewell has filed a petition for divorce from Minnie Sewell. The parties were married the 4th of last January, and in a short time thereafter, alleges Mr. Sewell, his wife "commenced to act wrong and irregular, by going away from home and staying out all night." Mr. Sewell also charges his wife with committing adultery upon various times, and he files several letters which he believes will sustain such a charge. Attorney James H. Smith represents Mr. Sewell.

A petition for divorce also filed by Katie Donaldson against Alonzo Donaldson, to whom she was married here February 28, 1887. Mrs. Donaldson charges her husband with desertion, drunkenness and cruelty. She prays for the custody of the children, John and Harry, and also for permission to resume her maiden name of Magruder. She is represented by Attorney Campbell Carrington.

COLLEGE BASE BALL GAMES

As telegraphed to The Star yesterday, the Americans competing in the Olympic games at Athens, Greece, were eminently successful.

Although the sky was overcast and threatened rain, the number of the spectators at the contests was estimated at $9,000.

The royal family entered the inclosure at 3 o'clock. The Crown Prince Constantine, who has been an active factor in the arrangements, accompanied the organization committee.

The crown prince and the committee met King George in the middle of the arena, where the king was welcomed by his son on behalf of the committee, and asked to accept the stadium, which had been restored by Georgios Averoff, whose statue was unveiled yesterday.

King George praised the beauty of the restored structure, cordially welcomed the athletes, and took formal possession in the name of Greece.

The united military bands played a hymn composed for the occasion, while the king and the royal family took their places.

The members of the American teams from Princeton and the Boston Athletic Association came into the arena in excellent condition and full of confidence, and the Greeks were plainly in fear of their American competitors.

The result proves that both the fears and confidence were well grounded, as the Americans carried off first honors in each event in which they entered.

Yesterday's contests were preliminary. The trials were running races at 100 meters (100 yards), 200 meters (200 yards), 400 meters (400 yards), 800 meters (800 yards), 1,600 meters (1,600 yards), 3,200 meters (3,200 yards), 6,400 meters
